

Staff Training

Staff Training

- All staff should receive training in relation to alcohol related issues. This should include their responsibilities under the Licensing Act 2003 and also other health and safety issues.
- Supervisors and managers should have received certification from an accredited licensing course.
- All training should be logged and signed for by the recipient.
- There should be refresher training to a recognised standard.